

COMMUNITY IMPACT AWARDS — 2013

The purpose of this award(s) is to recognize organizations* that are positively impacting their communities in ways that inspire integrity. There are two categories for this award as described below:

I) Education: Organizations honored in this category have demonstrated an ability to engage students and faculties in initiatives that significantly promote ethical behavior on Oklahoma campuses. Efforts will be assessed based on the measurable width and depth of these endeavors. For example, while monetary outreach is a consideration, the selection team will also be interested in other factors, such as the number of individuals impacted and the degree to which the initiatives have made a positive difference.

II) Community: Businesses honored in this category have made significant outreach efforts that serve to uplift the community, specifically by promoting strong principles, ethical leadership and integrity. Please note that this should not be confused with the Compass Award criteria used for Corporate Social Responsibility, but is geared to fostering ethical behavior by inspiring and mobilizing members of the community toward actions that reflect Oklahoma values of integrity.

Note that, because it is in everyone's best interests to promote high standards of ethical behavior, these awards are not limited to for-profit companies. For that reason, non-profits, educational and governmental institutions are welcome to apply.*

COMMUNITY IMPACT AWARD APPLICATION - 2013

Indicate which Community Impact Award your company is applying for:

I. Education X _____ II. Community _____

In less than 500 words, please describe the initiative(s) that the company has undertaken:

DSA-OKC strives to instill our faculty, students, parents, and community with strong ethics and a true sense of service and responsibility. We do this in many ways, but I'd like to submit a few specific strategies for your consideration. One major influence in our school is our Character Education program that utilizes the Character First trainings, methods, and materials. Every one of our middle school students is enrolled in a character education course, but our program is school-wide and impacts every student in grades 6 through 12. Character traits of the month are posted throughout the school, included in morning announcements, and integrated into the weekly lesson plans of every subject. Middle school students choose and execute community service projects through their Character Ed electives, and high school students are required to earn 30 hours of non-school community service hours every year with 120 documented hours required to graduate.

Our students extend these ethics to our community beyond the required service components. We have many clubs and classes that are designed for community service like National Honor Society, College Readiness and Leadership program (CRLP), and our Leadership course for seniors. These classes and clubs have raised funds for Breast Cancer Awareness, Diabetes, Hurricane Relief, among several other worthy causes. More locally, our NHS organized a school-wide effort to raise money to purchase school supplies which they delivered to students in Noble, Oklahoma who lost their homes and possessions to the wildfires in August of 2012. Our school choir spent a week of their winter break visiting nursing homes and a veterans' hospital to sing Christmas carols and spend time with the residents. These are all student-generated endeavors that are not required, but demonstrate the level of service our students volunteer to the community.

An example of how our faculty works to give back to the community beyond the education they provide for our students is our Free Adult Education Classes we provide on the weekends in Spanish, English, Turkish, and Computer Skills. These classes are taught by our current faculty members and are free to everyone. The interest and participation in these classes has been so overwhelming that we are currently looking to expand and increase the number and subjects of these Saturday classes.

Perhaps the greatest impact DSA-OKC has on the ethics of our community is through the graduates we produce. 100% of our seniors are accepted to college each year. Oklahoma Promise has named us the state champ in our division 3 of the past 4 years for the high number of our low-income students who qualify for this tuition scholarship with academic and behavior requirements that reach back as far as the 8th grade. College recruiters, OKC Youth Leadership Exchange, and the State Capitol Page Program regularly request DSA-OKC students to join their organizations. This is our ultimate goal and our greatest pride.

Describe the impact that this has had on the campus or community:

Please support your response with as much empirical, rather than anecdotal, data as much as possible.

Our immediate impact is on our campus of 475 students and 40 staff members every year. Our Character First initiatives reach every student and teacher since they are integrated into classroom lessons in all grades and subjects as well as our announcements and assemblies. Our community service requirement for graduation ensures that our 225 high school students (4 year average student count) complete 30 hours each year for a total of 120 or more hours upon graduation. This means that our high school produces approximately 27,000 hours of community service every four years and over 15,000 this academic year alone.

Even though we are a small school with an average percentage of 75% of our student body coming from low-income homes, our students contribute what they can to a number of worthy causes. Over the past 4 years, we have raised approximately $3500 in student donations for Breast Cancer Awareness, Diabetes, and the Special Olympics. Our students purchased and donated enough school supplies to all 15 of the Noble High School wildfire victims to last the entire school year. Last winter break, five different metro nursing homes received visits from our choir.

Our Saturday Adult Education classes currently have approximately 100 adults enrolled and attending each weekend. While this is a wonderful number, it must be multiplied exponentially when one considers the total impact of community members attaining bilingual and computer skills free of charge.

As stated in the previous response, our greatest impact on our campus and community is the students we produce. This May we will graduate our 8' class of seniors for a total of 300 college accepted high school graduates. These young men and women respect diversity, understand the importance of ethics in their daily lives, and are truly prepared to take the lessons they learned on our campus out into the world to impact their communities for generations to come.

I have attached 6 letters of recommendation and/or thank you letters from community members impacted by our campus.
